

Interpreting non-verbal behaviour during forensic assessment interview test (FAINT) and polygraph techniques

■ Nilesh Anand Bharne*, S.L. Vaya¹ and Asha Srivastava²

Raksha Shakti University, Ahmedabad, DEHRADUN (UTTARAKHAND) INDIA

¹Institute of Research and Development, Raksha Shakti University, AHMEDABAD (GUJARAT) INDIA

²Forensic Psychology Division, Central Forensic Science Laboratory, NEW DELHI (INDIA)

ARTICLE INFO :

Received : 03.07.2017

Accepted : 22.11.2017

KEY WORDS :

Non-verbal behaviour, FAINT,
Polygraph, Psycho- Somatic

HOW TO CITE THIS ARTICLE :

Bharne, Nilesh Anand, Vaya, S.L. and Srivastava, Asha (2017). Interpreting non-verbal behaviour during forensic assessment interview test (FAINT) and polygraph techniques. Adv. Res. J. Soc. Sci., 8 (2) : 360-364, DOI: 10.15740/HAS/ARJSS/8.2/360-364.

*Author for correspondence

ABSTRACT

While delivering FAINT Test and Polygraph test to the suspected criminals in Crime Cases, we are significant changes in their non-verbal behaviour. In Both the test truthful person has normal indicator/score, same as the normal person. While the deceptive person show significant variation in their non-verbal behaviour in both the test.